Future Searches and Mandates

The difference between success and failure in attracting institutional commitments can be the ability to identify which investors are likely to be most interested in your fund.

To help with this task, Preqin's Infrastructure Online now allows subscribers to identify potential LPs by searching for institutional investors by their future investment plans.

Preqin updates these details by speaking directly to investors – saving you time and ensuring our intelligence is up to date and accurate.

- Future Investment Plans - Investor profiles include details of investors' future searches, detailing whether they are targeting specific infrastructure strategies and/or regions of focus, and also contain summaries of their plans for the next 12 months.
- Future Searches and Mandates - Forward-looking search for all the institutional investors that are looking to make investments that match your criteria.
- Filter potential investors by location, investor type, investment preferences for the next 12 months, regional preferences for the next 12 months, and likely timeframe for their next commitment.

Date of Plans: Q4 2012

Route to Market: Unlisted Funds

Strategy: Primary, Fund of Funds

Region: Global

Timeframe: Opportunistic

Summary: As of Q1 2012, [redacted] had lowered its target allocation to Real Estate and Real Assets opportunities from 10% to 6% of total assets. In the year since Q1 2011, it had increased its actual allocation to these assets from 5% to 6%, meaning it had fulfilled its new target allocation level. Despite this, the [redacted] may make further investments going forward on an opportunistic basis.
